

BOY ORATOR ENDS HIS LONG JOURNEY

MR. BRYAN MAKES TWENTY-TWO SPEECHES.

His Final Campaign Tour Equal to Any He Has Made—Mr. Sewall Thinks Victory for the Democratic Ticket is Assured—General News for Popocrats.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 3.—It was almost midnight Monday night when Mr. Bryan spoke the last public word incident to his campaign. He had then made seven speeches in Omaha, beginning at 7 o'clock in the evening, and had preceded the night's work with fifteen speeches made during the day at Seward, York, Aurora, Grand Island, Hastings, Harvard, Saronville, Sutton, Grafton, Fairmont, Exeter, Friend, Dorchester, Crete and Lincoln. He had traveled during the day 250 miles. It had been Mr. Bryan's original intention to speak in every congressional district in the state during the day, but this was found to be impracticable, and he entered only four of the six.

The demonstrations in the way of greeting and of applause were so exceedingly cordial at all points that the democratic candidate could have found no cause for complaint on account of his reception at the hands of the people of his state. At York, which town was reached at 9 o'clock, thousands of farmers were waiting for the coming of the candidate, and the enthusiasm was great. There were some yellow badges, but not nearly as many as at Seward. The train slowed up as it went through Bradshaw, and the few hundred people assembled at the depot cheered Mr. Bryan loudly. At Aurora Mr. Bryan had a big crowd. Grand Island was the extreme western point of the day's tour, as it is the most western place visited by Mr. Bryan during the campaign. There was an excellent meeting at this place. The return trip was begun at 11:30, Hastings being the next stopping place.

Mr. Bryan was given one of the greatest receptions of his entire tour at Lincoln, his home city. He spoke from the balcony of the Lincoln hotel and addressed an audience which filled the streets in the immediate vicinity and also extended well over the public square in front of the hotel.

Mr. Bryan arrived at the Omaha station at 8 o'clock and was met there by a large concourse of his followers, by whom he was escorted in an informal procession to Boyd's theater. He addressed audiences at six or seven different halls, finding the speaking places packed to their utmost capacity upon his arrival at each of them. Some of the halls had been crowded from 6 o'clock, with the doors locked to keep out later arrivals who sought admission.

When Mr. Bryan closed his last speech he was still buoyant and professedly as hopeful as he had ever been in the campaign. He declined to make any statement for publication as to his hopes of the outcome of the contest. He said to his friends, however, that he still felt absolutely confident, and expressed the belief that the results would justify his most sanguine claims. He exhibited with much interest a telegram from Chairman Jones expressing continued confidence.

Mr. Sewall is Confident.

Bath, Me., Nov. 3.—On the eve of the election Mr. Arthur Sewall, the candidate for vice president on the democratic ticket, is serenely confident of the election of Mr. Bryan and himself to the two highest offices in the gift of the nation. Mr. Sewall bases his confidence on the numerous messages which he has received during the past few days and from the press reports, although he will not give out any definite statement as to just what states he thinks they will carry.

Arrested for Counterfeiting.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 3.—William Deighner, Mrs. Emma Zimmerman, Deighner's stepmother, and Ira Koung, an inmate of the Soldiers' home, were arrested Monday for counterfeiting and for raising bills from $1 to $10. Koung has confessed. A lot of counterfeiting apparatus and coins were found at Deighner's house.

Murderer Commits Suicide.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 3.—President Bradford, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Haley in Henry county on Friday last, committed suicide last night by shooting himself. He went to his father-in-law's residence, ate a hearty meal, and walked out into the yard and took his own life. He had been hiding since the morning.

To Suppress News of Suicides.

Panama, Colombia, Nov. 3.—Owing to the frequency of suicides in Chile, the daily newspapers of Valparaiso and Santiago propose to suspend the publication of all details respecting such crimes. It is hoped that this may exert some influence toward reducing the number of suicides.

Indian Commission Disbands.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The Puayall Indian commission has been ordered disbanded, to take effect Dec. 1, in accordance with the provision of an act of congress.

TRAGEDY OVER A WOMAN.

Scott Linton of Ohio Kills William Metzger and Wounds Belle Gray. Bellaire, O., Nov. 3.—At noon Monday Scott Linton, a well-known character, who lives several miles northwest of this city, shot and killed William Metzger of Wheeling and seriously wounded Belle Gray, a loose character, who has been making her home here for some weeks.

Linton and Metzger were in love with the girl, and the trio visited a house just west of the town. A quarrel was the result. Linton whipped out a pistol and shot Metzger during a tussle. While rolling in the blood of the dead man he also fired at the girl, the ball entering her breast and passing through her body. After this horrible work Linton shot himself in the temple and soon expired.

Neighbors, hearing the shots, rushed to the scene and found the two men and the woman upon the ground, covered with blood. Medical attention was given at once, and it is supposed the Gray girl will recover. None of the parties are married. Linton was 25 years of age and Metzger a couple of years younger.

Indiana Constable Fatally Hurt.

Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 3.—Monday afternoon Constable Campbell arrived with a warrant for the arrest of Willis Smith, charged with offering John Reed $20 to vote for McKinley. Campbell went to Smith's house and found him locked in an upstairs room. Smith refused to admit the officer, who broke open the door. Smith knocked the officer on the head with a club, fatally injuring him. Smith is under arrest.

Monthly Deficit $7,855,458.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The monthly comparative statement of the receipts and expenditures of the United States shows the total receipts for the month of October to have been $26,232,829, as compared with $27,901,748 for October, 1895. The disbursements during the month aggregated $33,978,277, showing a deficit for October of $7,855,458, as compared with the deficit of $6,601,687 for October last year.

Say Maceo Was Repulsed.

Havana, Nov. 3.—The report that Antonio Maceo crossed the military line after attacking Artemisa, and being repulsed with great loss, according to the official account, is again denied. It is stated that the insurgents upon that occasion acted without unison, disobeyed orders, made an attack upon the forts, and were unable to capture the Spanish intrenchments.

Alien Laborers Detained.

New York, Nov. 3.—Six hundred Italians arrived at Ellis island Monday on the Clive. When the immigrants were counted it was learned that at least three "groups" were not on the ship's manifest. The owners of a vessel are liable to a fine of $10 for each passenger whose name does not appear on the manifest. Further investigation will be made.

Heavy Snow in Northwest.

Huron, S. D., Nov. 3.—Five inches of very heavy snow fell here Sunday night, making a foot now on the ground. The storm north and west is reported very severe, and farmers are wholly unprepared for winter. Telegraph poles, and wires are down between here and Pierre, and no communication with that city has been had by wire since Thursday evening. Trains are only slightly delayed.

Warns British Investors.

London, Nov. 3.—The Times announces that it will issue on Nov. 9, a fac-simile reproduction of the Times of Nov. 9, 1796, containing Washington's farewell address. In an editorial on the election in the United States, the Times warns British investors in the event of Mr. Bryan's election against frantically throwing their stocks upon a disorganized market.

Company Makes a Settlement.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 3.—It is announced that a statement has been made by the Emerson Piano company with their creditors on the basis of payment in full, with interest at 6 per cent. from October 1, and that the trustees have turned over the business to the company.

Public Debt Grows Larger.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The October statement of the public debt shows the debt, less cash in the treasury on Oct. 31, to have been $987,498,956, an increase for the month of $7,195,726, which is accounted for by a corresponding decrease in the cash on hand.

Fell Off the Mad River Aqueduct.

Dayton, O., Nov. 3.—Sunday the remains of an unknown man were found at the Miami and Erie canal aqueduct over Mad river. The man had probably been sleeping on the aqueduct and fallen to the river bed below. His neck and back were broken. The man's name was Charles McBain and he was employed on a paving contract here. It is said his home was in Chicago.

No Truth in the Rumor.

Berlin, Nov. 2.—The North German Gazette says the statement is incorrect that a recent order renders the import of American tinned meat virtually impossible by providing for the examination of each tin of importation.

SAVED THE MONEY BY KEEPING COOL

EXPRESS MESSENGER FOOLS TRAIN ROBBERS

South-Bound Missouri, Kansas & Texas Express Held Up Near Ardmore, I. T.—Bandits' Plans Were Not Well Made, and They Did Not Get the Cash.

Ardmore, I. T., Nov. 3.—A south-bound passenger and express train on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad was held up and looted by train robbers at a point one mile south of Alvarado, Tex., at 7 o'clock Monday evening. It is reported that the robbers secured but little treasure from the express car. The bandits are supposed to be heading for the Indian territory, and all the United States marshals have been notified to be on the alert.

The bandits were three in number. They climbed over the tender, and, covering the engineer and fireman, made them stop the train. They then made the porter cut the express car loose from the passenger cars and made the engineer pull out on the hill this side, where they made him uncouple the engine and move off some distance. Going to the express car they ordered the messenger out. After he got out they made him get back in the car and told him to hand out the money quick. Instead of doing so he turned off the light and fastened the door. While this was transpiring the greatest excitement prevailed, and the robbers, who were doubtless novices, were disconcerted by the action of the messenger. The engineer realizing the situation, pulled the throttle open and ran into Grand View and wired Hillsboro. The robbers became alarmed and fled, when the messenger put out the lights. Sheriff Bell organized a posse and sent it with bloodhounds to the scene of the hold-up.

Satelli Denies a Story.

Rome, Nov. 3.—Cardinal Satelli, in an interview, declared there was no foundation in the statement that the diocese of Buffalo is to be raised to the dignity of a metropolitan see, with jurisdiction over Rochester, Syracuse and Elmira, and he also classed as unfounded the statement that Bishop Keane, formerly rector of the Catholic university at Washington, is to be appointed a titular archbishop. The cardinal and that all forecasts as to Bishop Keane's successor are premature, as the list of candidates submitted by the American bishops has not yet reached the Vatican.

Killed in a Street Car Panic.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 3.—Lambuster Angelo was killed and Lincoln Guiseppe dangerously injured in a panic, which resulted from a trivial occurrence on a trolley car of the Consolidated Traction company. The car was filled with Italian laborers, when a fuse of the electric car blew out, sending a puff of smoke into the car. In fear the men rushed for the doors. Angelo jumped, or was pushed off the car, and in striking the ground his back was broken. Guiseppe's head was badly cut, and he may not survive. Three others of the party sustained minor injuries.

Indiana Oil Field Operations.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 3.—There was a heavy falling off in the Indiana oil field during October, owing to the fact that drilling has been cut to 40 cents per foot. During the month 123 wells were finished, of which fifty-seven were dry or worthless for oil, the balance showing a daily output of 2,050 barrels. The average production per well per day is twenty-seven barrels, being the largest of the year. In new work ninety-eight wells are drilling and sixty rigs up.

Involves Question of Citizenship.

Washington, Nov. 3.—In the case of the United States vs. Wong Kim Ark, before the supreme court, which involves a phase of the Chinese question, as to whether children born of Chinese parents residing in the United States are citizens from the fact of their birth, was ordered back to the docket for oral argument in January.

Connecting Circuit is Laid.

Warsaw, Ill., Nov. 3.—The steamer City of Warsaw Sunday laid the cable extending from the Illinois shore to the Missouri shore, completing the circuit which places 100 towns in Illinois, Missouri and Iowa in telephone communication with each other.

One Receivership is Vacated.

New York, Nov. 3.—At the request of counsel on both sides of the Bay State Gas Company litigation Judge Lacombe in the United States circuit court vacated the receivership order for its jurisdiction. The papers contained no detail of the agreement.

Agricultural Society Fails.

Waterloo, Ind., Nov. 3.—The Northwestern Indiana Agricultural association, for over a quarter of a century conducting the district fair, has failed. The property is now in the hands of the sheriff for disposal. Liabilities are unknown.

River Seine is Subsiding.

Paris, Nov. 3.—The river Seine is slightly falling near this city, but the rivers are still rising in the south of France.

M'KINLEY IS SURE OF HIS ELECTION

HE IS SATISFIED HE WILL BE SUCCESSFUL.

Last Day of the Campaign Passed Quietly at Canton—Townpeople of the Republican Nominee Prepare To Celebrate His Victory—General Republican News.

Canton, O., Nov. 3.—On the eve of the election Gov. McKinley felt serenely confident of success in the presidential struggle. Throughout the excitement of the day, while visiting delegations came and went and the McKinley cottage has been besieged with long lines of eager, enthusiastic crowds, Gov. McKinley maintained the same calm, cheerful and confident air that has marked him throughout the campaign. He declined, in response to direct requests, to make a public expression of the outlook.

A host of special correspondents are here. Thousands of people are thronging the street between the public square and the McKinley home. For twenty years, ever since he has been in public life, Maj. McKinley has spent the night before election in his own home, addressing his neighbors and friends.

It is understood that Mark Hanna will reach here today, after voting in Cleveland, remaining with Gov. McKinley until late in the day, and then returning to Cleveland to receive the returns.

It was 10 o'clock before a long line of marchers reached the McKinley cottage, where crowds had stood throughout the evening awaiting the governor's final speech of the campaign. The parade had gone to Five Forks, a local political center, early in the evening, where addresses were made on one side of the street, while a populist gathering listened to their orators on the other side.

As the marchers formed in front of the McKinley house there were shouts for the governor from the front ranks of the torch-bearers and from the thousands who filled the streets and walks and overflowed to the lawns and up to the porch. Gov. McKinley was greeted with cheers as he appeared with his hat and overcoat on.

Col. Irish is Egged.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 3.—The closing demonstration in behalf of the Palmer and Buckner ticket took place Monday night, when Col. John P. Irish of California addressed a large crowd. Col. Irish did double duty, following Candidate Bryan in his tour of the state and delivering addresses in a dozen or more towns. Specials from the places visited tell of demonstrations accorded him, with the exception of Sutton and Grafton, where he suffered indignities at the hands of part of the crowd which remained after the Bryan speech. Eggs were thrown at the party at Sutton.

Capture a Spanish Vessel.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 3.—Col. Giuseppe, formerly of the French army, and Col. Ortega, formerly of the Venezuelan army, with Lieut. Tries and Carlos Garcia, have arrived here from Nassau. These men say they captured a Spanish vessel off the coast of Cuba and conveyed the crew and provisions to the insurgents, after which they embarked on board the captured vessel and arrived at Nassau.

Accuses Gen. Lee of Talking.

Madrid, Nov. 3.—El Liberal publishes an interview which its correspondent at Havana claims to have had with Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the United States consul general, previous to the sailing of the latter for New York on board the Ward line steamer Vigilancia. He is quoted as expressing confidence that the "Heroism of the Spanish soldiers under Gen. Weyler would soon triumph over the rebellion."

New York, Nov. 3.—The visible supply of grain Saturday, Oct. 31, as compiled by the New York produce exchange, is as follows: Wheat, 58,679,000 bushels; increase, 1,354,000 bushels; corn 19,340,000 bushels; increase, 1,484,000 bushels; oats, 11,751,000 bushels; increase, 850,000 bushels; rye, 2,544,000 bushels; increase, 850,000 bushels; barley, 5,907,000 bushels; increase, 1,491,000 bushels.

For Spring Conferences.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 3.—The Methodist Episcopal bishops, as an official board, closed their work here Monday afternoon. They will meet at Providence, R. I., next April to make appointments for the fall conferences in Ohio, western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and west of the Mississippi river.

Murdered by Her Husband.

Mankato, Minn., Nov. 4.—Louis Bulger, lessee and proprietor of the American house, shot and killed his wife Monday morning. He was intoxicated, and abused her, driving her out of the house. He shot her as she stood on the sidewalk. He was immediately arrested.

Pillsbury and English Draw.

Vienna, Nov. 3.—The first two games of a match of five games between Pillsbury and the local expert, English, resulted in draws. Moscow, Nov. 3.—Lasker and Steinitz began play in their match of ten games in this city today.

WORK OF THE MINTS.

Nearly $6,000,000 in Gold and $2,544,000 in Silver Coined.

Washington, Nov. 3.—A statement prepared by the director of the mint shows the coinage executed at the United States mints during the month of October as follows: Gold, $5,727,506; silver, $2,844,009; minor coin, $66,900; total, $8,638,409. Of the silver coined $2,350,000 were in standard silver dollars.

A statement prepared by the comptroller of the currency shows that the amount of national bank notes in circulation on Oct. 31 was $234,897,657, an increase for the month of $1,345,014, and for the year $21,099,429. The circulation based on United States bonds was $216,510,014, an increase for the month of $1,842,320, and for the year, $26,329,053. The circulation secured by lawful money amounted to $18,387,643, a decrease for the month of $496,693, and for the year, $5,229,624. The amount of United States registered bonds on deposit to secure circulating notes was $241,103,350, and to secure public deposits, $15,903,000.

REBUKES BISMARCK.

Official Paper Hints That State Secrets Never Lose Sanctity.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—The Reichsanzeiger replies to Prince Bismarck's organ, the Hamburger Nachrichten, on the latest phase of the dispute concerning the disclosure of the Russo-German treaty of 1884-90, saying:

"The question of the period of time required for secret diplomatic occurrences to lose the character of state secrets can only be decided by the statesmen in office by virtue of their responsibility and special knowledge of the political situation. If Germany gave an unconditional promise to keep secret the fact as well as the purport of the negotiations with Russia before 1890, the obligation is still binding upon all cognizant of the matter, and this consideration also precludes the possibility of discussing the essential points of the negotiations."

UNCLE SAM IS ANGRY.

New Crisis Has Arisen in Regard to Cuba.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 3.—Cuban leaders here and in Key West declare that they have reliable information that the relations of the United States and Spain have reached a crisis, and that developments of great international importance in regard to Cuba may be expected within the next month.

Advices here from Havana are to the effect that the departure of Consul General Lee for Washington was caused by this crisis, and that his report to President Cleveland will be of such a character that it will almost certainly result in action being taken by the United States. It is understood that the cases of the Competitor prisoners was the immediate cause of the departure of General Lee.

Wabash Locomotive Derailed.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 3.—The engine and baggage car of the Wabash east-bound fast mail were derailed at New Haven, six miles east of this place, Monday evening. Engineer Joseph Long and Fireman Kuback of Toledo escaped injury. A tramp riding on the baggage car was seriously hurt. The accident occurred at the crossing of the Wabash and Nickel Plate roads.

Go Home to Vote.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Postmaster-General Wilson left Monday for Charleston, W. Va., to cast his ballot for Palmer and Buckner. Nearly all of the treasury officials have gone home to vote. Commissioner Miller of the internal revenue bureau left for West Virginia and United States Treasurer Morgan for Connecticut.

Hang Bryan in Effigy.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 3.—W. J. Bryan was hung in effigy on the silver pole in Sodus Sunday night. When it was discovered a small riot took place between the two factions, and it is feared that there may be trouble to-day.

Scalded Her Child to Death.

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 3.—Mrs. David Stewart's sleeve caught on a pot of boiling water, upsetting it. The contents fell upon a two-years-old child, burning it so badly that it died. Mrs. Stewart is insane with grief.

To Recognize the Cubans.

Lima, Peru, via Galveston, Nov. 3.—News has been received from Sucre, Bolivia, that the commissioners of foreign affairs of the senate has presented a motion in that body for the recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents.

Reach an Agreement.

RESCUERS MEET DEATH.

While Helping One of Their Number They Are Killed by an Explosion.

Ashland, Pa., Nov. 3.—Two persons were instantly killed and four others badly injured Monday afternoon by an explosion in Packer No. 2 colliery. The killed are:

JOHN HOLLERAN, aged 35 years; JOSEPH FANN, aged 42 years. Thomas Walsh, John McGraw, Nicholas Mack and John Kohler were badly injured, the former probably fatally. The men were engaged in driving a tunnel, and had bored a hole in the rock which they charged with powder. The fuse was attached and lighted by Walsh, while the others ran to a place of safety. After lighting the fuse Walsh started after his comrades, but his clothing caught on a spike and held him fast. He cried for assistance and the men promptly responded. They had scarcely reached the spot before the explosion occurred.

LAW AND ORDER DEFIED.

Mob of Colored Men Terrorizes a North Carolina Town.

Goldsboro, N. C., Nov. 3.—An incendiary speech made here by Frank Baker, a colored man of Dudley, caused a clash between white and colored citizens Monday. A mob of over 150 negroes armed with knives, pistols and clubs marched through the city and defied the law. The sheriff and city authorities finding themselves unable to cope with the mob, called upon the Goldsboro Rifles for assistance. This action had the effect of quelling the disturbance, which for a time looked as though a riot were imminent. The negroes repaired to a hall in their locality and held a meeting. The militia is still at the armory ready for any emergency. The fire department is still at the armory ready for any emergency. More trouble is expected.

Got Away with the Cash.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—O. F. Hall, for three years a trusted man for James H. Campbell of the Campbell Commission company at the stock yards, and later, when that company failed, confidential man for the succeeding company, the Stockman's Commission company, has disappeared, and according to the officers of the company its entire assets, amounting to about $24,000 in cash, negotiable paper and securities are missing.

Expect Trouble in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—Never before since the war has there been a campaign in Missouri where there was so much bitterness of feeling between the opposing parties as the one which has just closed. Some of the leaders in both the democratic and republican parties predict trouble at the polls today. Gov. Stone is in St. Louis and he declares the right of every citizen to cast his ballot shall be maintained at any cost.

Fired on the American Flag.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 3.—John Berlow, a soldier, shot repeatedly at an unknown man Monday evening, killing the rider's horse and wounding him, he thinks. The provocation was the destruction of a large American flag with a McKinley banner.

EVANSVILLE FIRE CONFINED IN TIME

THE OLD TACK FACTORY IS DESTROYED.

Building Was Vacant, But Had Been Used by the Hall Circus—Baker
Manufacturing Plant Was Protected
—Small Crowd Heard Bryan—
Other County News.

Evansville, Nov. 3.—About 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the people here were startled by the alarm of fire. Fearing we would have as large a fire as we did four weeks ago, every one was ready to assist within a very few minutes. It proved to be in the building several years ago used as the tack factory. At present it was unoccupied, but while Col. G. W. Hall's show was here for winter quarters, it was used for housing the animals. By the rapidity with which the flames were soon extinguished and thus prevented the flames from spreading into the Baker Mfg. Co's works. Wm. J. Bryan addressed a crowd of about five hundred people in his five minutes speech from the rear of the platform of his car, at the depot Friday evening. Many were disappointed in not seeing Mr. Bryan as he spoke about forty-five minutes before time. Two of the best speeches of the season were given here, Monday afternoon; the speakers being Hon. R. M. LaFollette, of Madison, and Colonel Wright. They were greeted by a crowded house and many pronounced them to be the best speakers, having visited our city. Mr. LaFollette left here by special car for Milwaukee, where he spoke Monday evening. The A. C. F. gave a Halloween social at the home of William Hatfield. A good time was enjoyed in general. Miss Pearl Campbell also entertained a few lady friends in the usual Halloween games. The following is the bill of fare prepared for dinner by the ladies of the Baptist church on election day: Chicken pie, roast beef, cabbage, potatoes, brown bread, white bread, pickles, tea and coffee and two kinds of pie. For supper: Cold meat, chicken pie, cream, potatoes, brown bread, white bread, cabbage salad, beans, tea, coffee and cake. Harry Johnson won the medal on the gold side at the campaign contest, Friday evening, while Jay Feasenden won the medal on the silver side of the question. O. S. Shepherd, who was hurt on the night of the great fire, was able to attend church, Sunday. The M. E. Sunday school are very busy now with a cantata, which they will render Christmas eve. Word was received here Sunday evening, of the dangerous illness of Mrs. Cora Reilly Johnson, of Chicago. Her sister, Mrs. Charles Bartlett, went on the first train, to assist in caring for her. Later reports are that she has been taken to the hospital. Miss Clara Finn has returned to her home in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Bert Dennie returned to his Chicago home, last Thursday. Frank Hunt returned from Dakota, Saturday evening. He reports about ten inches of snow at Devoe, where he was. Professor Coburn closed his term with the German and French classes in this city, Friday evening.

NEWS FROM MILTON JUNCTION

The funeral of Mrs. Eva Halle is held—
Other News Notes

Milton Junction, Nov. 3.—The remains of Mrs. Eva Stetson Halle of Chicago, were brought to this place Monday. The funeral was held at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Halle lived in this place when a child, and had many relatives and friends here, as the crowd which attended her funeral showed. She was a granddaughter of William Morgan, deceased, one of the oldest settlers in this town. Her disease was appendicitis. She leaves a husband, a baby daughter, a sister and father, beside the immediate family. The floral tributes were superb. Mrs. Maud Lester came up from Chicago Saturday night, and made all the arrangements for the funeral of her friend, Mrs. Halle. Mrs. Mate Sowle returned from her stern visit in company with the funeral train from Chicago Monday, where she was stopping at the time Mrs. Halle died. Mrs. Halle was a cousin of Mr. Sowle. From reports we hear we are to have a general merchandise store in the west end of the Button block in a short time. The "great agony" will soon be over. The speakers can soon rest their tired throats. The newly elected officers of the I. O. G. T. of this place are: I. P. Hinkley, C. T.; Hattie Fulton, V. T.; Virgil Elmer, secretary; Minnie Richardson, assistant secretary; E. D. Coon, treasurer; Mrs. E. D. Coon, financial secretary. Installation, Tuesday night.

The Ladies' Aid society will give an oyster supper and experience social at the parsonage Wednesday evening. Philip Westrick and wife are moving to a place north of Milton, and Mr. Cunningham's family, of Milton Junction, will work the Gray farm the coming year. Before we write again, the unprecedented excitement of the campaign will be over. We hope the best interest of the country will be considered, which ever party wins the election. Dr. Louis Bennett's family, of Beloit, spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives here. Mrs. William Callison and children are visiting at C. E. Palmer's.

BELOIT'S CAMPAIGN IS ENDED

Speeches By L. B. Caswell, Dr. Leavitt
and Prof. Eaton

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 2.—The republicans wound up their canvass with a fine meeting tonight addressed by L. B. Caswell of Fort Atkinson, President Eaton of Beloit college, and the Rev. Dr. G. B. Leavitt of this city. This meeting, with the workingmen's demonstration and speeches by E. M. Hyzer of Janesville, and Paul Carpenter of Milwaukee, Saturday night, caused republicans to feel as though they had a good round up. Beloit's republican vote will be the largest in her history by a good number.

Magnolia News Notes.

Magnolia, Nov. 3.—Born October 27 to Mr. and Mrs. Anton Cole a baby girl. Quite a crowd attended the silver lecture at McCoy and Mattins hall Saturday night. Mr. Wooster of Brodhead, is not a brilliant speaker. On account of the rain the republican lecture for Friday night was given up. Several went from here to Evansville Friday night to see and hear William J. Bryan. Miss Lizzie Hughes returned to her home in Detroit, Mich., last Thursday. Mr. Charles Weaver has gone to Miles City Montana. He will remain during the winter working at his trade, tailoring. He receives for his services from $16 to $18 a week.

Benjamin Park Buried.

Clinton, Wis., Nov. 2.—The remains of Benjamin Park were brought here from Lake Mills, where he died Saturday night, and placed by the side of his wife who died six years ago. He was eighty-six years old. Mr. Park was a pioneer of this county, coming from Ohio in 1847. Here he passed the most of his life and left a name above reproach. He left four sons B. S. Park of Sheboygan, M. T. Park of Elkhorn, J. H. Park of Rock Island, Ill., and F. E. Park of Lake Mills.

Halloween Pranks.

THE GAZETTE AGENCY,
W. W. CLARKE, Manager.
Milton, Wis., Nov. 2, 1896.
Halloween was observed here by the "kids" unassisted for the most part by the older element or visitors, consequently their pranks did not include the destruction of private property, but they did some things that had better been left undone, noticeably the mud throwing at Sunby's shoe shop.

Wedding Anniversary.

Last Saturday occurred the thirty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Crumb. Their daughters, Anna and Charlotte planned and executed a very successful surprise party. Thirty-five guests were present to enjoy the pleasure incident to the occasion and for once in his life "Carl" was surprised.

Some Other Notes.

H. C. Saunders, of Pocahontas, Iowa, brought his wife here Saturday, in a special coach, from their Iowa home. Mrs. Saunders has been, and is, a very sick woman, and it was her desire to return to her old home in this village. She stood the journey very well, and was taken to the residence of Henry Ester, where she will remain.

Misses Grace and Kate Clark left on Monday for San Francisco, California, where they expect to spend the winter with their uncle, General Oliver Green, U. S. A. Their many friends unite in wishing them a safe journey and an enjoyable winter on the coast.

Ray Rice, of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, came home to vote for McKinley and his wife accompanied him. Seward Blunt, of the same

KICK GEN. DOE OUT ON NOVEMBER 5TH

ROCK COUNTY'S NOTED SOLDIER TO BE FIRED.

Grover Will Pay Him For His "Treachery" by Cutting His Precious Official Head Off Close to His Precious Official Body on That Day.

And General Joseph Bodwell Doe he, Must walk the plank.

Rock county's famous soldier is to "get it in the neck."

Grover is going to smite him.

The Washington Evening Times says:

"Report has it that Deputy Commissioner of Pensions W. C. Bell, Assistant Secretary of War J. B. Doe, Auditor of Treasury E. P. Baldwin and Consul General to Mexico Thomas J. Crittenden are to be martyred in the cause of silver."

"It is claimed that November 5 has been set for their official decapitation, and that even the ceremony of reading a death warrant in the form of a request to resign is to be dispensed with. They are to be made horrible examples of too much Bryanism, and their sudden 'taking off' will doubtless have a good effect on future government officials."

They Deserve the Bounce.

"In strict justice these gentlemen clearly deserve reward. They have been intense silverite partisans and by their affiliations with the new paper they have tacitly endorsed the many brutal attacks on the Cleveland administration. To make them walk the plank would prove a source of satisfaction, but it would also serve as a recommendation for re-appointment should Mr. Bryan be elected."

"Naturally that reason for their retention will not influence President Cleveland. He is not given to consulting anything but his own convenience and desires when it comes to disciplining subordinates. He looks upon the offending officials as viperish ingrates. They maliciously sting the hand that honored them, and they merit the full penalty of the president's displeasure."

"But the worst punishment of all will be the defeat of Bryan. They staked their honor on his election, expecting to be retained in office. The success of McKinley will cover them with disgrace and humiliate them in the estimation of their more honorable associates."

MORE LEAF WAS MANUFACTURED

Revenue Returns Indicate That Business Was Fairly Good.

The returns of the revenue department showing the consumption of foreign leaf for the fiscal year in comparison with that of a year ago, indicate that more leaf has been manufactured the past year than the previous one, says the Edgerton Reporter. The figures have reference to Sumatra and Havana exclusively, and from them the United States Tobacco Journal has figured out that the difference between the panic and the succeeding fiscal year was nearly two million pounds, or twenty thousand bales, in favor of the latter, while the difference between the fiscal year '95 and that of the '96 was but three hundred and sixty odd thousand pounds. But taking these figures as a whole, they prove that the leaf trade had very perceptibly recovered in the two years succeeding the panic, and that it is as yet in no danger of being wiped out, as one would suppose who is in the habit of listening to the tales of who as whispered in all the offices in Water street.

WAS A CASE OF SIXTEEN TO ONE

Sixteen McKinley Ladies and One Bryan Man at a Surprise.

Yesterday was the sixty-seventh anniversary of the birth of Mrs. N. A. Swan and a number of her friends surprised her at her home, 252 Mineral Point avenue, in honor of the event. Those who participated in the celebration of the day were:

CHEAP OPERA IN BOSTON.

An Experiment in Reduced Theatrical Rates That Proved Successful.

An experiment has been made in Boston for a year which thoughtful people have watched with interest, says the New York Tribune. There has long been a demand for a reduction in the prices of the average theater tickets, or, rather, a reduction of the prices when poor or common-place attractions were offered, as is sure to be the case at every theater in Boston at times in every season. The public believes that $1.50 is too much to pay for a good seat to see a second-rate lot of players perform in a second or third-rate sort of play, but the prices at the majority of the theaters have remained the same, although occasionally they increase them 50 per cent when some extra attraction arrives. One of the cheaper grade of theaters, under a new manager, tried the low rates at the beginning of the season, and the house is always full. The grade of performances is quite as good as at houses where the high prices prevail, and sometimes better. Just what the exchequer will show at the end of the season, of course, only the managers know, but the fact that prices remain low and the houses continue to be full is a pretty good indication that the public appreciates the opportunity. A new theater was opened at the beginning of last season, with a new melodrama, at the usual prices charged at most other theaters, and the result was bad business. After an ineffectual struggle against the tide, the manager decided to try comic opera early last summer, at popular prices, and with a new opera every week. The prices were 50 cents for all seats on the first floor and 25 cents for those in the two balconies. The business was good from the start. With the increase of business came improved casts for the operas. The summer season was so satisfactory that the owners decided to continue the same policy for the regular season, and the result is that the house is literally sold out every week many days in advance for the evening performances, while for the matinees, when the price is uniformly 25 cents for every seat reserved in the house, it is possible to get two tickets only by applying at least two weeks in advance. The class of people which goes there is sometimes as good as that which goes to the symphony concerts and is always excellent. The wealthy middle class goes there and good musicians sit through a performance of "Faust" (for they are now giving grand opera occasionally with good results) with evident enjoyment. The boxes are sold by the season, for the most part, and it is rare to see a vacant seat in the entire house on any night, and never at a matinee. This is regarded by Bostonians as important, especially in view of its possible effect on the theatrical business of the future.

Money in Turtles.

"What kind of fish do you find most remunerative?" I asked the owner of a stall in the California market.

"Him," was the reply, as he jerked his thumb in the direction of a monster green turtle that lay on his back, blinking at the ceiling.

"Do you sell many of them?"

"Never sold one of them yet."

"Then how do you make money out of them?"

"I rent him."

"But he can't be used a dozen times, like a church fair oyster."

"Yes, he can. I just rent him to the restaurants when they have turtle soup or green turtle steaks on the bill of fare. The restaurant man ties him outside, with a sign on his back, 'Turtle soup to-day.' Then next day some other restaurant rents him, and so on the week round. I get fifty cents a day for him as a drawing card. That's $3.50 a week that I have made out of him regularly for eight months—say, $120 in round figures. It doesn't cost anything to feed him, and, I guess, he will live longer than I will. I wish I had routes for about ten more turtles."

THE CHANGE OF LIFE.

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE FOR THE TRYING ORDEAL.

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases.

The anxiety felt by women as the "change of life" draws near, is not without reason.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, it is at this period likely to become active and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

Cancer often shows itself, and does its destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, headache, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, dizziness, etc., are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life where woman's great change may be expected. Thousands at this critical time consult Mrs. Pinkham, and conduct their habits according to her advice, and with the Vegetable Compound go through that distressing time with perfect safety and comfort. Mrs. W. L. Day, of Bettsville, Ohio, says:—

"When all else failed, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life. It carried me through the change of life all right, and I am now in good health. It also cured my husband of kidney trouble."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1794—William Cullen Bryant, American poet and editor, author of "Thanatopsis," born at Cummington, Mass.; died June 12, 1878, in New York.

1830—John Esten Cooke, American author, whose writings were chiefly of southern inspiration, born; died 1886. Colonel Cooke served in the Confederate army and was for a time a staff officer to General J. E. B. Stuart. He wrote war sketches and biographies which will live among the best contemporary writings, but his chief literary labors were in the line of fiction. Among his best known works are the biographies of Lee and Jackson and the novels "Virginia Bohemians" and "My Lady Pokahontas."

1892—General Samuel Wylie Crawford, one of the defenders of Fort Sumter and later division commander in the Army of the Potomac, died in Philadelphia; born 1829.

PRINTERS' UNION IMPOSED UPON

The Indorsement of J. L. Mahoney Given Without Any Authority.

The Printer's union has not endorsed J. L. Mahoney for congress or any other political candidate on any ticket. Vice President Albert Knuth, an employee of the Recorder, signed the alleged endorsement for Mr. Mahoney which the Recorder published this morning. He had no authority to do so, and other members of the union repudiate his action, and denounce him for making it appear that the union is mixing up in politics. The endorsement of the other union officers was given, it is said, without holding meetings to authorize the move.

Mr. Knuth's action in attempting to commit the Typographical union to something that the president and other officers of the union would not countenance, will probably be one of the subjects discussed at the meeting of the union tomorrow night. Protests from members of all the local unions began to come to The Gazette office before 8 o'clock this morning. It was declared repeatedly that no meeting had authorized the endorsement of any candidate, and that the officers who signed the card made unwarranted use of their official positions. Explanations will be demanded at the first opportunity, the members declare.

The card bears date of Oct. 9, but was held until election morning, it being well understood that denials would follow too soon to make of value if any time was allowed.

STOLE SHERMAN'S SHOT GUN

Weapon Was Stolen From a Barn—Other Police Happenings.

William Sherman who resides near this city in the town of LaPrairie had a valuable shot gun stolen, and the officers are now looking for it. Sherman had been hunting in the woods and upon returning home left the gun in the barn for a short time. When he returned it was gone. The police are looking for the thieves.

JIMMIE'S EXPLANATION.

He Is Not Going to Impart Any More Valuable Knowledge.

It was in Bank alley. The morning issues had been sold out and the gang were waiting for the rumble of the evening presses. "Jimmy de Kid" sat upon the summit of the coal pile near the Times-Democrat's back entrance wiping away the evidence of the peach turnover he had finished masticating.

"I say, Jimmy," yelled one of the crowd, "wot's dis yere talk 'bout silver and gold, and wot does '16 to '1 mean?"

Jimmy surveyed the gang. His eyes flashed with conscious pride. He was the ready reference book of the boys, and seldom did he ever get an upper cut of a question that he could not answer. His form straightened out and he balanced himself carefully on the summit of the coal heap as he made ready to explain the complex condition of the financial question.

"Yer see, dis is how 'tis. I've got sixteen silver dollars—"

He didn't get any further. With a grand chorus of yells that would have done credit to a band of Comanche Indians, the gang was upon him. Down fell Jimmy, and as he rolled into the gutter and up against the curbstone he was pounced upon by a dozen of his colleagues and for a few minutes Bank alley resounded with the sounds of the one-sided fray. Jimmy's pockets were turned inside out with dextrous rapidity, and then "De Kid" was permitted to rise.

"De nex' time you'se fellers want ter know 'bout financiers you'd better go tump yerselves in de 'sats' 'fore yer ask me 'bout dem, sec," he scornfully muttered as he shoved a match through his suspender catch.

"Well, wot yer say yer had sixteen dollars fer?" the gang yelled back, as "Jimmie de Kid" slowly left the scene of his attempted explanation.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

IN THE VISITORS' BOOK.

"Impressions" There Recorded Sometimes Make Serious Trouble.

I observe with mixed feelings that a gentleman of the resonant name of Samuel Chandos Pole was fined $100 last Monday for writing in a visitors' book at Tamworth, says the London Speaker. This is a good beginning and the courage of Mr. Justice Wills and a common jury in chastising our national vice takes an added luster quia saevit in ipsos Trojugenas. But as far as taste and style and grammar may go, the composition of Mr. Chandos Pole can hardly be differentiated from the common run of entries. "This is a very nice hotel," he wrote, "and don't rob you like the opposite house."

On second thoughts I take back the expression "our national vice," for the French seem to suffer from it almost as severely as we. Nevertheless, from actual observation I arrived to conclude that the Englishman has a quite special inaptitude for this class of composition. If it be worth attempting at all (which I am far from allowing) it is worth doing well; for this much at any rate may be conceded, that man's invention has hit on no severer test of man's habit of mind and bearing. It lies open to all to accept or decline the test, but the man who accepts exposes himself more frankly than he who writes an epic and must justify himself, his wit and temper and breeding, in the space of two or three lines.

The Cow Ate the Ring.

A gold ring that is supposed to have spent nearly two years in a cow's stomach was sent the other day to its owner, a young lady of Homestead. Two years ago the young lady was visiting on a dairy farm near here and while in the barn picked up a kitten and tossed it in a pile of chop and bran. With the kitten went a gold ring from her finger, which could not be found, and was given up and finally forgotten. Several days ago Edward Jones, a Sutherlandville butcher, bought a cow from Frank Hough, the dairyman, and when the cow was killed the ring, with the young lady's name engraved on it, was found in its stomach.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

THE CAMPAIGN ENDS IN BLAZE OF GLORY

BIG HONEST MONEY DEMONSTRATION LAST NIGHT.

Rockford Clubs Made a Fine Appearance, and Were Given an Ovation All Along the Line—E. R. Hicks, of Oshkosh, Makes the Closing Speech.

The campaign in Janesville ended in a blaze of glory last night.

Rockford's famous flambeau club blew streams of fire into the heavens; cheers rent the air; bands played, and three thousand candles were fired. At the opera house E. R. Hicks, of Oshkosh, made a speech that stirred the audience to enthusiasm, and taken all together, the night was one never to be forgotten.

Early in the evening the crowd began to gather on the street corners. Eight o'clock came, but the Rockford clubs had not yet arrived. Then it was announced that the train was late and could not get here until nearly nine o'clock. Shortly after that hour, the train pulled in. As the Rockford clubs swung round the Academy street corner, the sight, from down the street, was a pretty one. The clubs marched in silence until after they had passed Columbia hall, where the democratic meeting was in progress. Then the marchers reached into their pockets.

Lighted Up the Sky.

Each man had five two-foot roman candles, and as the flambeaus were blown, the candles were lighted. Then a stream of vari colored balls sped skyward. Each man held his candle at the proper angle to make a fine display and as the streams of colored fire passed each other they made a pretty sight. The big Rockford band—composed of a score and a half of musicians—struck up a lively air, and the crowd began to cheer. Two thousand and roman candles had been distributed along the street, and there were bags of red fire galore. Dynamite crackers added to the "grand result" and the Rockford men were cheered all along the line. The flambeau and Traveling Men's clubs wore handsome uniforms, and made a fine appearance. The railroad men, who waived their colored lanterns as they marched, also made a fine appearance. Residences along the proposed line of march were nearly all handsomely lighted up, but the muddy condition of streets caused the abandoning of the original route. After the parade the Rockford clubs gave fancy drills, and were loudly cheered.

At the Opera House.

At the opera house, a good sized audience waited patiently for the curtain to rise. E. R. Hicks, of Oshkosh, was the speaker, and owing to the delay in the parade the speaker didn't begin until 10 o'clock. But even at that late hour the audience was anxious to "hear the word." Music by the Glee club was the opening number, and after several encores had been responded to, Chairman F. F. Dunwiddie introduced Mr. Hicks.

The speaker spoke of the lateness of the hour, as he advanced to the footlights, and said that it was certainly the eve of election—"election day was almost here." He said that he should not attempt to make a speech, owing to the lateness of the hour, but would "talk," and he did. He marshalled facts and figures in a convincing manner and pleased the audience with his sallies. Mr. Hicks came to Janesville with a well earned reputation as a campaigner and he sustained it fully, in spite of the handicap he labored under owing to the delay. He spoke until after eleven o'clock and no one left the opera house until he had concluded.

Rockford Men Entertained.

The Rockford men were entertained after the parade. The reception was in the nature of a banquet at which speech making and a musical program were features. The musical part of the program was furnished by Farrell & Artis orchestra, while Dorr Carrier, of Rockford, favored those present with a whistling solo that brought forth loud applause. Speeches were made by Captain Dell McPherson, Lieut. Gray and Privates Victor Johnson, Burt Keyes and William Hartall of the Rockford clubs and Captain McPherson and Lieut. Gray on the part of the flambeau club thanked the Janesville men for the hospitality that had been accorded. Remarks were then made by Messrs. Keyes, Johnson and Hart. At the close of the reception the Janesville men marched to the depot, giving three cheers for Rockford as the train pulled out.

Many Rockford people who had planned to come up, decided not to at the last moment, as it had rained in Rockford all day, and they thought that the celebration would be declared off.

FETHERS AND NORCROSS SPOKE

They Close Their Work with a Rally at Palmyra.

Palmyra, Wis., Nov. 2.—Ogden H. Fethers and Colonel Pliny Norcross, of Janesville, delivered addresses at the closing rally of the political campaign at the Palmyra republican wigwag, tonight. They were greeted with marked enthusiasm. There was music by the Cornet band, and the wigwag seating several thousand, was filled with enthusiastic listeners. The arguments were clear, eloquent and convincing. It is safe to say that not a score of Bryan votes will be cast here tomorrow. Reports indicate that this portion of Jefferson county will go strongly republican.

NEARLY all the residences on South Second street are ablaze with lights—but the parade went the other way.

BORT, Bailey & Co.'s ad. tonight tells you of a special cloak and jacket exhibit at their store next Thursday.

EVERY lady should plan to attend our exhibit and sale of cloaks and jackets next Thursday. Bort, Bailey & Co.

THE Rockford club paraded and drilled after the parade ended, and an immense crowd cheered them to the echo.

THE Third ward residences of Mrs. Elizabeth Pond and Hon. A. P. Lovejoy were handsomely decorated and lighted last evening in honor of sound money.

THE Rockford men came up last night with money to bet at odds of four to one on McKinley, and even money that Tanner would defeat Altgeld in Illinois.

No Roman candles were fired until after the parade had passed Columbia hall—where the democratic rally was being held—but after that the heavens were ablaze.

A PRIVATE party will be given at La Prairie grange hall on Friday evening, Nov. 30. Robert Brown of this city, is one of the floor managers, and Smith's orchestra will play.

BE patriotic and at the same time get as good flour as is made in Pearl White and Vienna brands, both made at home. Ask your grocer or get them at the mills. J. M. Shackleton.

THE election returns will be received at the Armory this evening during the Light Infantry dance. Smith's orchestra furnishes music and those holding former invitations are cordially invited.

A BRYAN man, who tried to "roll" two or three Rockford flambeau men sub-ided into the doorway of the republican club headquarters and slept there all night. He left his cap for P. S. Fenton to remember him by this morning.

THE democrats held a closing rally at Columbia hall last night, and speeches were made by J. L. Mahoney, Rev. V. E. Southworth, J. J. Cunningham, William Smith, Wilson Lane and Hon. John Winans.

WE bought a lumber of 18-inch full nickel coal or wood Oak stoves from a Chicago manufacturer, at a very low price, and offer them at the unheard of price of $9.50 each. They have always sold for $18. Lowell Hardware Company.

PLEASE don't get so mixed up in politics that you will forget the bargains we are offering in underwear. Our men's natural gray at 27½ and 50 cents and our all wool grades at 75 cents and $1 are values not to be overlooked. T. P. Burns.

"HAVE you washed your teeth and voted?" was a stock inquiry today. The way the vote piled in from 6 to 7 o'clock, made it look as if a good many people had been too anxious to get a rap at Mr. Bryan, to wait until they had washed their teeth.

"I wish I could get a meal like mother used to make," is a remark often made. And so one can, if they will only go to the lunch rooms of the Mrs. Clark Co. Wabash avenue, just south of Madison street, Chicago. This is a very pleasant place to eat, when shopping in Chicago.

THE A. Richardson Shoe Co. have a very spley talk to the ladies in their large space this evening. You will find no better class of goods or of such a great variety of shoes in the town or any town in the state as the A. Richardson Shoe Co. carry and yet they make the prices cheap to you.

A heavy vote was polled in Janesville today, indicating that Bower City men had studied the issues of the campaign and were anxious to record their judgement.

At one polling place seventy-three votes had been cast before seven o'clock in the morning. Carriages were being used and both sides were seeing that their forces were gotten out.

A Gazette reporter made the rounds of the polling booths this afternoon and found the vote had been heavy. At three o'clock the clerks of election had checked up the names as follows:

The Vote At 3 P. M.

In 1890, 2,235 votes had been cast up to 3 o'clock p. m. In 1892, the aggregate number was 2,377 and in 1894, 2,322. The vote at 3 p. m. for 1892, 1894 and 1896, was as follows:

Hear Returns at Lappin's

Everybody, regardless of party, is invited to hear the returns read in Lappin's hall tonight. There will be telegraph and telephone bulletins—the full Associated Press service and the Long Distance Telephone Co.'s service as well. A nominal charge—ten cents—will be made to pay the rent of the hall, and the doors will be open until breakfast time. Returns of importance are expected early this year, for the result in Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and a few other central-western states should tell just about what McKinley's plurality will be.

Returns will be received elsewhere about the city. All the newspaper offices will be crowded as usual. At the Y. M. C. A. building the local union of Endeavor societies will receive bulletins and serve luncheon. Bulletins will be read from the opera house stage until midnight. Several "election night" parties have been planned for private houses, the telephone bulletins being relied upon for news. A dozen business and professional men have subscribed $15 for the Western Union bulletin service and will spend the evening in a convenient law office where census tables and political registers can be referred to more readily than in larger meetings. The charge for the Western Union bulletins this year is $25 for hall service and $15 for messenger service to offices or homes.

The Telephone Reports.

Manager Willets, of the Telephone Company, has made all arrangements to supply all the subscribers of the company with complete returns tonight. In some cases, parties will gather at the homes of various subscribers, to hear the results, and enjoy a social hour. Where it can be done, several phones have been bunched on one circuit, so that one operator can send the report to all of them at once. The service will be complete.

The Last of the Season

On Thursday next we will have with us Mr. F. F. Lewis representing the great cloak manufactory of Joseph Beilford & Co., of Chicago, with a very large stock of the latest cloaks and jackets for fall and winter wear. Mr. Lewis was in the city some weeks ago and exhibited at our store and this visit will be the last of the season. He has a lot of garments to include a complete assortment of the stylish Empire jackets for ladies and misses and fur and cloth capes and jackets of all kinds for ladies, misses and children, also ladies' collarettes, tip-pets and boas. Our own stock will be reduced in price that day and we guarantee you a saving of from $2 to $8 on each garment. There will be about $10,000 worth of goods exhibited ranging in price from $5 to $40. The great drawing card of the line, however, will be the showing of medium priced garments at from $5 to $15 each. You are welcome whether you buy or not. Bort, Bailey & Co.

Returns Tonight.

During the performance of "Railroad Jack" at the Myers Grand tonight full reports of the election will be read every few minutes during and between the acts arrangements having been completed with the long distance telephone company there-giving complete returns from east and west. Bright and attractive specialties are introduced throughout the play and the production is said to be first class in every respect. Monica Leech Farley, Reta Dixon, Carroll Kane, David Rivers and George Howson will contribute to the olio. Prices 15, 25, 35 and 50 cents.

IT IS A FAVORITE RESORT.

Elm Park Hotel, Lake Koshkonong, Convenient for Hunters and Pleasure Seekers.

Under the management of J. A. Barber, late of Stoughton, a hotel man of six years experience, the Elm Park Hotel, better known perhaps as the "Taylor House," at Lake Koshkonong, is fast becoming a popular resort both for hunters and pleasure seekers.

Especially at this time of the year is it a convenient stopping place for hunters, as all the conveniences for the killing of game are at hand, boats, blinds, decoys and a long stretch of shore for both fishing and hunting.

Mr. Barber will make a specialty all the coming winter of game dinners on Sundays and will secure enough ducks this fall to insure this dish for those who wish it at any time. The distance is not so great but that Janesville people can enjoy the trip on the snow this winter and they can rest assured of an appetizing meal awaiting them at the end of the route.

CUPIDS BONDS ARE FORGED.

Wilkes—Vankirk.

Miss Julia Vankirk, niece of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Vankirk, of this city, and for several seasons a very popular member of Janesville society, was married in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Monday, October 26, to Paul T. Wilkes. The groom is a prominent young Sioux Falls business man. The wedding was sudden and somewhat unexpected. Mr. Wilkes had been very ill, and Miss Vankirk went to Sioux Falls as the guest of his sister. The first that Janesville friends knew of the wedding was when they received the announcements. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes are now in Iowa on a visit.

MOCK ELECTION IN ALL THE CITY SCHOOLS.

If Children Give Any Indication of the Sentiments of Their Elders, the Republican Majority in Janesville Will Be Something Startling—Figures in Detail.

If school children vote as their fathers do McKinley's majority in Janesville would be something to remember. There was to have been a vote at the high school this morning, but the display of gold ribbons in button holes and back hair was so overwhelming that no vote was needed.

At the Washington school first ward, a vote was taken in all the rooms. It resulted:

McKinley..... 247

Bryan..... 4

Palmer..... 1

Besides revealing an overwhelming tendency toward McKinley the ballot was significant in showing how youthful intuition had reached the heart of the issue and had not dismissed Palmer and Buckner as wholly irrelevant.

Only the Sixth grade and the Third grade voted in the Second ward. The vote stood:

McKinley..... 59

Bryan..... 39

Palmer..... 1

Everybody voted, and most of them voted right in the Jefferson school, Third ward. The totals were:

McKinley..... 260

Bryan..... 65

Palmer..... 1

The vote in the Fourth ward, Webster school, showed stronger democratic tendencies, the figures being:

Bryan..... 74

McKinley..... 72

Palmer..... 3

In the Grant school, with children drawn from the First and the Fifth wards the vote stood:

McKinley..... 89

Bryan..... 27

Palmer..... 3

The Fifth ward school, the Douglas, split very even. The vote stood:

McKinley..... 76

Bryan..... 73

Palmer..... 3

Excluding the high school, therefore, the schools cast the following aggregate vote:

McKinley..... 803

Bryan..... 317

Palmer..... 3

At the Star school for the Blind there was a mock election this morning. It resulted in the casting of 92 votes for McKinley and 24 for Bryan.

WINTER NOVELTIES.

New Materials of Silk and Wool—Stripes and Checks.

Metalasse in combination of color is one of this winter's fashionable fabrics. The ground is tinted with a changeable effect, and the figures are of mohair of the darker ground shade. Silk and wool striped goods is also seen, the dark stripe being of wool and the light one of silk.

Silk and wool and wool goods of a novel description have threads of tinsel interwoven with them, as is sometimes seen in drapery fabrics. It is not evening materials alone that show this metal effect. It is seen in thick, dark, rough surfaced goods of a boucle nature, that seem more appropriate for out of door wear than for any other purpose. The fashion is not likely to be of long duration.

Among other novelties in winter dress goods is a sort of imitation of tapestry. Stripes of all kinds, plaids and checks, mixed goods and goods with broken lines of color, are all in high favor now. Zibbe lines, chevrons, bures and amazon cloth are also among seasonal fabrics. Black enters largely into color combinations, enriching them and at the same time subduing them. Rough, woolly and hairy effects are greatly sought after and are in a sense characteristic of the season.

Among new silks are moire and broche failles having a dim and continuous design. There are also faille figures on a satin ground, broche satins, with a pattern of several colors on a dark ground, and innumerable similar variations.

The sketch shows a street gown of French blue cloth. The skirt is plain at the top, the lower half consisting of a deep flounce, headed by three bands of sable. The close bodice has a short, rippled basque bordered with fur and opens with blue velvet revers, fur edged, over a plain vest of white cloth braided with gold. Small gold buttons close the vest. The sleeves have a band of fur at the wrist, and the collar is of fur. The toque, of French blue velvet, is trimmed with a velvet bow, yellow velvet flowers and white ostrich plumes.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

VARIOUS ACCESSORIES.

Color Combinations—Hosiery, Capes and Jackets For Girls.

Yellow laces, which are more and more worn, are, of course, artificially treated to produce their tint, but this may be done at home if it is desired. Neither tea nor coffee will give the desired tone, often as they have been recommended. Soaking or boiling the lace in tea gives it a gray or ecru tone, while coffee makes it brownish. An infusion of saffron alone produces the real yellow tone. After the infusion is made it should be tested by a bit of muslin or tulle before the lace is placed in it, to be certain that it is of the right strength.

The bolero is universally worn both for toilets of ceremony and for ordinary purposes. It is made of tulle, embroidered with gold, of guipure, old point, venetian point, point d'alecon, etc., and also of velvet of another color than the gown, with applications of lace.

Moss green and pale blue are an effective and fashionable combination seen in evening gowns of the newest creation.

Black hosiery is always more or less worn, and is still entirely fashionable for the street. For evening and ceremonious wear the stockings match the color of the gown.

REDINGOTE.

Black or colored petticoats are chosen for walking, but for elaborate toilets white petticoats are preferred.

Capes are permissibly worn by young girls, for they are convenient and may be quite simple, but the jacket is preferable for them, as being more youthful.

The sketch shows a long coat of Havana brown velvet. It is fitted at the back, a motif of passementerie with jet drops and fringes being placed at the waist line. The front is loose and forms a wattle plait, under which the garment closes. A jet motif, with falling ornaments, is placed at the top of the plait. The middle of the front is cut short, so that the plait forms coquilles. A border of fur surrounds the foot, and fur edges the large, draped cuffs, which compose the collar.

BACKWOODS SURGERY.

Treating a Dislocation with a Pulley and Steam Engine.

"Probably as queer a piece of backwoods surgery as has been described," says a frequenter of the region, "was that performed by a Moosehead Lake guide known as 'Old Sabattus,' twenty years ago. The man was not an Indian as the nickname implies, but a Yankee, one of those rough fellows formerly characteristic of that locality. This guide was left on a lake steamboat at one of the far up landings while the engineer went ashore with the crew. A man named Meservey came aboard, and in fooling around the boat managed to tumble down into the fire pit and put his shoulder out of joint. Here was a dilemma. The other members of the party would not be back for half an hour, and the injured man was in great pain. The guide was a man of expedients. He got a rope and tied his patient securely to a post. Then he tied another rope around the man's wrist and hitched the loose end of it to a pulley of the engine. He managed somehow to turn on steam and the pulley began to wind up the rope. It drew the arm out tight in beautiful shape and presently the joint snapped back into its socket. Then 'Sabattus' jumped around to shut off steam while the pulley kept on winding. 'Holy Moses,' gasped the guide excitedly, 'how does it go? I don't know where 'tis. I can't stop the blanked thing,' and the pulley meanwhile was slowly but surely pulling Meservey to pieces. His eyes were sticking out of their sockets and he screamed and gasped for breath. Sabattus danced around like a wild man, not knowing what to do, when he happened to spy a hatchet lying near, and, jumping for that, he cut the rope and saved a dreadful catastrophe. This was done just as the party of city folks who had gone ashore came rushing back on to the boat alarmed by Meservey's screams. It was some years afterwards," says the narrator, "that I was present when a lot of summer company arrived at Greenville. Sabattus was there, too, and presently a distinguished-looking man, one of the new-comers, went up to him and said with a meaning smile, 'Are not you the man that practices surgery by steam?' And Sabattus had to admit that he was 'that same feller.'"—Lewiston Journal.

Closing Hours in London.

Mr. Albert Larking, assistant secretary of the Early Closing Association, writes that traders to whom legislation in this matter is distasteful are mainly responsible for the introduction of any bill to reduce the long hours of shop assistants generally, through their unwillingness to fall in with the voluntary proposals made to them from time to time. Mr. Larking gives a number of examples of this kind of opposition, and adds: "One would have thought a 9 o'clock closing on four nights of the week perfectly reasonable, but in all parts of London our efforts to secure even this reasonable hour in place of 9:30 and 10 o'clock have failed. That our legislative policy is generally approved is evidenced by the steady increase year after year of our income from employers and assistants, the increase for the first seven months of this year alone being no less than £330. While waiting for legislation, however, which we are certain will come, we have not abandoned our voluntary work, and it is hoped that when we open our autumn and winter campaign on the return of our secretary (from his enforced absence through ill-health), we may receive a more ready co-operation from the London traders to secure some reasonable improvement in the present late hour of closing. One of the sad sights of London at the present time is to see shops of every thoroughfare crowded with well-dressed women, who ought to know better, as late as 9 o'clock at night, and who could, with a little self-sacrifice, shop earlier, and thus help to make the lives of the overworked shop assistants a little brighter and happier. We despair, however, of thoughtless women ever giving up their cruel and bad habit of late shopping until compelled to do so by finding shop doors closed against them at 8 o'clock."—London Telegraph.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
I hereby give notice that I intend to make application to the circuit court for the county of Rock, on the first day of the next term thereof, to be held in the court room in the city of Janesville, on the 4th day of November, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., (that is, say, as soon thereafter as the same can be heard, for a judgment against the several lots, lands, pieces and parcels of land as set forth in a report then and there to be made and filed with the clerk of said court, for the unpaid city taxes levied by the common council of the city of Janesville for the year 1896 and all persons interested therein are requested to attend such term of said court and either defend or cause to be defended by such application.

JAS. A. FATHERS,
Treasurer of the City of Janesville.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop.

Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Sold by all medicine dealers.

STRANGE PLANTS.

Some of the Curious Growths That Travelers Have Noted.

Early travelers in China and Tartary speak of a "plant of flesh and blood, with the shape and appearance of a lamb; having feet, tail and head distinctly formed, and its skin covered with soft down." The lamb is said to grow upon a stalk three feet in height, and to turn about and bend to the herbage that serves for its food; and when the grass fails it dries up and withers away. There is some foundation for this queer story in the existence of a singularly-shaped plant recently discovered which has a sort of woolly covering; and in order to heighten the general effect, the natives trim the plant and adjust the long, light, silky hairs that cover it, in such a style as to give it the appearance of a wool-clad animal. It is natural to suppose that this plant would wither when the grass begins to fail; for even if it did not subsist upon the grass as reported, the same drought that served to kill the grass would naturally destroy the plant.

The value of the plant world, not only in furnishing the pulpy material of which paper is manufactured, but also in supplying the paper itself outright, may not be fully appreciated by those who have not investigated the subject. It is well known that the Egyptian papyrus, in early days, was the main source from which anything like our modern paper was derived. This was a reed that grew by the brooks, with a stem six to ten feet in height and about an inch in diameter. These were peeled, and the pith was cut into thin slices, which were then laid side by side, with the edges touching one another. After being sprinkled with water a heavy pressure was applied, and they were thus united into one piece. It may not be so generally known that there now grows in Asia a tree, the bark of which is made into sheets about a yard square, and these are used for all the ordinary purposes of paper, being very tough and durable. The soft and durable Chinese rice-paper is not the product of any part of the rice plant, but is the pith of a tree, which, by the aid of a lathe and a sharp instrument, is cut into very thin and delicate rolls.

ABOUT POSTAL CARDS.

How and Where They Are Made and Printed.

In 1872 congress passed an act authorizing the postmaster general to issue postal cards, and the first in the United States were on sale in May, 1873. Postal cards are manufactured by private firms or corporations. The government invites bids and awards the contract for their manufacture at stated intervals.

The postal card "sheets" are about thirty by twenty-two inches in size, and are exactly fitted to the plates from which the cards are printed, each plate covering forty cards—four in width and ten in length.

The printing is done by experienced workmen, and as the sheets pass into the presses the number of cards is accurately recorded by registers. To prevent any tampering the registers are securely locked every night.

After the sheets are printed they are put aside until thoroughly dry. They are then passed through a machine called the "slitter," which cuts them into strips of ten cards each, and neatly trims the edge of the outside strip. These strips are then passed transversely through another machine known as the "cross-cutter," which cuts the strips into single cards, and they drop into a rotary hopper containing ten compartments.

The moment each compartment has received twenty-five cards the hopper revolves and throws them all out upon a table. Employees, usually girls, then take the cards and bind the perfect ones in packs of twenty-five each. Other girls take the packs, and after carefully recounting them, put them in card board boxes containing twenty packs each, and they are ready for shipment.

More than three hundred million postal cards are used annually in the United States, and it requires no less than 720 tons of paper to make them.

Populists' Bills Will Be Paid.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Secretary Edgerton of the populist national committee, said yesterday that the committee will close up its headquarters this week and will have enough money left to settle all bills. The committee has spent about $12,000. The "middle of the road" populists have made few or no contributions, and many liberal members of the party had sent their contributions to Chairman Jones of the democratic national committee, believing this course the best in the present campaign.

Indian Crops a Failure.

London, Nov. 3.—The viceroy of India, the earl of Elgin, has cabled the home government that in the Punjab distress is expected merely in Cisutley portion and in Transkari. In tracts of Lahore, Ghyranwalla, Gujrat and Shapur the autumn crops are rather better, and in the northwest provinces the affected area is smaller than expected, but includes half the population. The people are now eating autumn millet. The distress will begin about the middle of December.

Secures a Chinese Contract.

Washington, Nov. 3.—United States Minister Denby has informed the State department that the Chinese Yamen has awarded to the Baldwin locomotive works of Philadelphia, the lowest bidders, the contract for building eight locomotives for the Imperial railway,

Cold Victuals and A Hungry Dog

Always seem to have a sort of an affinity for each other—a fellow-feeling, so to speak—a mutual recognition of the eternal fitness of things. Possibly these emotions are more ardently emphasized by the dog than by the victuals, but this trifling circumstance should not blind us to the existence of the beautiful relationship. To close this line of thought, let us speak at once of Clothes.

A Man of Taste and Good Clothes....

Have an affinity for each other. This is a fitting simile; (at least clothes OUGHT to be fitting) and if a multitude of witnesses can be believed, there is a certain line of clothes that is eminently fitting; and now while we have this clothes-line in hand, we may say—not for the purpose of "roping" anybody in, but simply as a legitimate business hint—that Browning, King & Co. Are Famous Clothes Makers.

They are tailors to the trade, and are the most extensive house in their line in the United States.

They make clothes at close prices, and by reason of the high quality of their workmanship, coupled with their straight-forward methods, they have left old-time houses far in the background.

JUST A WORD and we have done—Do you want clothes ready to wear, EQUAL IN MATERIAL AND WORKMANSHIP to the best your local tailor can give you, but at prices which he POSITIVELY CANNOT AFFORD to offer you—at prices in fact 25 to 33 1/2 per cent. below the best he can do for you? You let us show you through our stock of fine suitings, especially our $15, $18 and $20 suits. They are made up elegantly and fine fitting. * * OUR STEIN-BLOCH OVERCOATS at $18 to $25 could not be made up better if you paid $30 to $45. * * We will keep your clothes in press. Bring them in any time they need pressing, and we'll put them in shape for you.
